I am writing in support of having raw milk available for my family and my consumption. I have a history of food intolerances and do not have milk because of reactions. I would like the options to be able to purchase raw milk for myself and my family. In our society people have the right to smoke or not smoke cigarettes, even though cigarettes are poisonous and contribute to certain diseases. I do not understand why we don't have the right to purchase raw milk, when it has been available to people who own a cow for generations!!!! The right to choose is all I am asking for. Regards Julie
