'Submission on A1193 Irradiation of all fresh fruit and vegetables'.

Incredulous that this is even a thought.

To survive, humans must have their own immunity. It needs to be a strong immune system. Packaged foods already are overloaded with sugars, palm oils, trans fats, and many additives and colours with numbers and names one cannot pronounce.

Leave fresh foods alone... they even have been sprayed with God knows what to get them to the shelf... irradiation will take what life and goodness is left. The goodness of fresh foods is vital to our body. We are it seems in the midst of a fight for our very lives.

Already immune compromised through over vaccination, over prescribed pharmaceutical drugs, over exposed to hidden sugars and toxins in our packaged foods - all of which government systems and checks allow (so this cannot be about our health!)

We see you! And what your intentions are!
