

FOOD RECALL

SS Casino Dry Gin
700ml bottle
Date label "Batch 1"

Apollo Bay Distillery P/L is conducting a recall of the above product. The product has been available for sale at Great Ocean Road Brewhouse in VIC (Tastes of the Region) between 5 pm on Friday 5th June until 7:30 pm on Sunday 7th June, 2020.

Problem: The recall is due to non compliant labelling (NIP not listed on the label) - 80% ABV ethanol and Glycerol and Hydrogen Peroxide added.

The product is labelled as gin, however it is not gin. The bottles are not correctly sealed, they can be identified as having no shrink wrap seal.

Food safety hazard: The bottles contain, 1.45% glycerol and 0.125% hydrogen peroxide. Products containing glycerol and hydrogen peroxide may cause illness/injury if consumed.

What to do: Consumers should not ingest this product. Consumption of the product may have side effects including nausea, headaches, dizziness, bloating, vomiting, thirst, and diarrhea. If you experience any of these symptoms please seek medical advice.

Consumers should return the product to the place of purchase for a full refund.
