Cheese from raw milk,

Australia imports from Italy tonnes of cheese made from raw unpasteurised dairy. Yet it is illegal for an Australian to make and sell cheese from raw unpasteurised dairy. How can that be, it's ok to import it, not ok to make it local. Fair go Australia! Just as well the media hasn't got hold of this story. Hopefully you can adjust the laws before they do.

Looking forward to you updating the laws so I can adjust my buying habits and buy local Australian cheese instead of the imports.
