Agree. Something on our website would be good, in addition to the planned letter.

Given the blog on the mummy site I think we need to prepare a statement for publication.

Hi Lorraine,

This is the article that I read yesterday in the conversation <http://theconversation.com/nanoparticles-in-baby-formula-should-parents-be-worried-59246>. The concluding paragraph says:
Luckily, current research suggests hydroxyapatite nanoparticles in formula are most likely safe, and arguably, even beneficial. But given how high the stakes are, safety here should not, and indeed cannot, be taken for granted.
For this reason I didn't worry too much about the story but this morning I got this <http://www.mouthsofmums.com.au/risky-nanoparticles-found-in-baby-formula-should-we-be-concerned/> which may need to be rebutted as it appears the story is getting a bit of negative momentum for FSANZ and the infant formula industry.

Are you preparing a statement for the media? And should we?

Regards,
