Dear To Whom It May Concern,

I wish hereby to make a submission against the application for trialling the GE modified corn and soy. In the light of recent scientific discovery in the area of epigenetics, the notion of some kind of genetic determinism upon which these applications are based, would seem poor science. Given the implications for public health, such reckless experimentation based on poor theory would surely not be in NZ's best interests.

My name is Paul White, my address [redacted] and I do not have a wish to present my misgivings to a committee.

Yours sincerely,
Paul White
