- 12. Submission Text: To whom it may concern I am concerned the proposal from Dow AgroSciences Australia Limited will add to the already dangerous load of chemicals consumed through human food products. Regardless of the Science used to ensure the safety of these chemicals, especially when used on crops modified to survive the chemical. Plants whether modified or not still absorb the chemical that is applied and without a plant moving through a human lifespan of testing there is no scientific way to guarantee no ill health effects. I urge you to consider the health impacts of this application during the consultation process. Kind regards, Eric Smith
