Re: Submission on Application A1115: irradiation of Blueberries and Raspberries

Dear Sir/Madam,

I believe it is absurd to consider the irradiation of Blueberries and Raspberries within NSW or anywhere in Australia when current regulations do not allow the irradiation of most foods for good reason. This applies in most countries including the EU. What long term studies do the NSW Government have to support the safety of these or any edible irradiated foods. Most of us are aware of the terrible outcome to cats feed irradiated pet food. There is great risk and its not worth taking such risks when there are many other ways to solve the Fruit Fly issue.

Sincerely
Peter Beetz
