>
> I am a concerned consumer who would like to submit my concern regarding the submission for irradiation if all fresh fruit and vegetables.

>
> Such a practise will kill good bacteria and denature enzymes in fruit and vegetables. This will kill its living vibration which assists in healing. Bacteria is required for health. We are bacteria. This practise would be to the detriment to the health of all Australians.

>
> Any irradiated food should be labeled as such so that consumers can make an informed decision.
