Subject: Fw: Submission on A1193 Irradiation of all fresh fruits and vegetables

Categories: [REDACTED]

Dear Sirs

I have read with interest your documents relating to the the proposed A1193 Irradiation of all fresh fruits and vegetables. I respectfully request that highest consideration be given to reconsidering the drastic and severe direction indicated.

The arguments for this confronting measure appear plausible and legitimate. Nevertheless, with billion dollar payouts to claimants in process by Bayer-Monsanto for their production of harmful chemicals over generations, claimed by them time and time again to have been safe and now proven to be otherwise, I reserve an emphatic view that these proposals will in the long term prove to be harmful, not only to the food and therefore the consumers, but also as an ideology. There must be a number of reasons for the drastic development of major cancers, Parkinsons disease and so on. They are not an accident. Research indicates they can be the result of accumulated toxins leading to health challenges .Any process which undermines the natural contents of our food is essentially detrimental. Making huge financial profits, removing personal choice and insisting on process deemed by many to be unacceptable will not be so in the long run.

I respectfully request that matters are left as they stand, which is severe enough. Kindly leave some choice to the consumer albeit with a potential financial loss to those in charge. Money is not everything when it comes to good health.

Regards
